

Questions...

What size will my sign be?

Every slate slab is individually cut to order. The actual size of the finished sign will depend upon the engraving, weight of characters and font chosen.

When you visit our website, our design & order page calculates and displays the finished size of your sign as you enter and adjust your requirements.

Alternatively, phone or fax your requirements and we'll let you know the actual size of sign.

Are fixings provided for the sign?

Yes, for signs with normal fixing holes we supply additional slot-head brass or stainless steel fixing screws along with wall plugs.

What are "hidden fixings"?

The pre-drill holes part way into the slate from the back. Provided with your order are threaded stainless steel pins and an epoxy-resin glue. You do need to glue the pins into the sign yourself but the process is easy and all pictorial instructions are provided. This method of fixing means there are no visible fixings on your sign. This deters theft and avoids any staining on the sign as screws will eventually tarnish.

What guarantee do you provide?

All our signs are guaranteed for a full twelve months from date of order. Because we use high quality natural slate, your sign will last for many years.

How long does delivery take?

Normally around two to three weeks. Our current delivery date is shown on our website. It is very unusual for us to miss a despatch date - so you can expect to receive your order on the date we say.

How can I track the progress of my order?

We post or email an Order Confirmation to you as soon as your order is in our system. This includes the expected delivery date. We'll also remind you by emailing or telephoning on the actual date of despatch. If you wish to check on the progress of your order at any other time, please contact us.

Can I amend an order that I've already submitted?

The production process begins quite rapidly after your order is placed (normally within five days). If you need to change your order, contact us at the earliest opportunity. If it is not too late, we will amend your order as necessary. If engraving has begun, we will be unable to make any amendments.

What if my sign arrives damaged?

All our signs are despatched in specially designed packaging so damage during transit is a very rare event. If there should be any damage to your order, please inform us as soon as possible. Upon notification, we will immediately raise a replacement order at no cost to yourself.
